

Million milestone

Dr. Justin Maloney, the Advanced Coronary Treatment Foundation's medical director, looks on as Megan Dicks (middle teen), the foundation's one millionth student, and other Ottawa students learn cardio pulmonary resuscitation. Medical directors of emergency service agencies across Canada take the lead in the foundation's CPR program in their respective communities, providing the guidance that made the milestone possible.

