
THE VANCOUVER SUN

Division of Canwest Publishing Inc.

CPR for high schoolers

June 14, 2010

B.C.'s Minister of Education, announced at Richmond Secondary School in Richmond on June 8, 2010, that that all students in BC public schools will receive CPR training. Funding for the initiative is made possible by a $500,000 donation from pharmaceutical companies AstraZeneca Canada, Pfizer Canada and sanofi-aventis, and will be administered by the ACT Foundation.

Margaret MacDiarmid, B.C.'s Minister of Education, announced at Richmond Secondary School in Richmond on June 8, 2010, that that all students in BC public schools will receive CPR training. Funding for the initiative is made possible by a $500,000 donation from pharmaceutical companies AstraZeneca Canada, Pfizer Canada and sanofi-aventis, and will be administered by the ACT Foundation.

Photograph by: Nick Procylo, PNG

Dummies sit in the auditorium as Margaret MacDiarmid, B.C.'s Minister of Education, announced at Richmond Secondary School in Richmond on June 8, 2010, that that all students in BC public schools will receive CPR training. Funding for the initiative is made possible by a $500,000 donation from pharmaceutical companies AstraZeneca Canada, Pfizer Canada and sanofi-aventis, and will be administered by the ACT Foundation.
Photograph by: Nick Procaulo, PNG

Photograph by: Nick Procaulo, PNG

Photograph by: Nick Procylo, PNG

Photograph by: Nick Procylo, PNG